COMPLIMENTARY.-Night before last, our printers were agreeably surprised, while diligently at work, by the tender of a bountiful supply of cooked oysters and other corresponding refreshments, from an unknown source. The repast was enjoyed with a very high relish. Yesterday we accidentally learned who was the generous donor, and hereby, on behalt of our office and all connected therewith, tender to Mr. John M. Kinney, of this city, our thanks for the complimenter

AN "INDEPENDENT FANATIC .- A small crowd was entertained yesterday after dinner for an hour or two, by the holding forth of a man with a rope passing over one shoulder and around his body, just inside of the west entrance to Capitol Square. He represented himself to be an itinerant independent preacher and a fanatical Aboli-tionist. He stated that he had played the latter role for over twenty years. As to the title "fanatical," which he gave himself, his right to it could hardly be questioned. He tried to persuade his hearers that a judgment had come upon President Lincoln for his leniency toward the Southern people and that judgments would come upon

STILL MORE BURGLARY .- About 3 o'clock Saturday morning, the house of J. H. Fearn, 289 East State street, was entered by a burglar. He effected his entrance through a window into a bed-room in the second story by placing a ladder across two fences in front of the house. On this he placed another small ladder, and climbing up, eftected his object. He took Mr. Fearn's pants and vest to an adjoining room, and took from them a gold watch valued at $75 and $18 in money. Mr. F. being awakened by his wife, who heard a noise, pursued the burglar, who made off with his booty; got out of the house by breaking through the window of a room on the ground floor, and hus effected his escape.

About the same time a house adjoining was entered, and the book-keeper of Messrs. piler, Earhart & Beeson was robbed of Several ar-rests have been made of individuals susected to be connected with the affair, and package of money found similar to the ne lost by Mr. Adams; but, whether he will recover his money, and the thieves be brought to justice, is as yet uncertain.

Mr. Neely Sawhill, of this city, in the crowd on Saturday forencen, had a pocket-book taken out of his pantaloons pocket. It contained a small check and a small unt of money. We believe that no clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of the Meleary that Mr. David Jountage, residing an Long street, also had his pockets ploked on Saturday. He had, however, taken the wise precaution to leave the most f his loose cash at home, so that he lost but all amount of money, with some bank motorist who are we are that hierards are no

George Coleman's delightful comedy of "The Heir at Law," was handsomely presented, and some of the more comic scenes rendered with a skill rarely equaled. "The Apostie," said the Elder, "was moved by many kinds of doctrine," "Yes," replied Mrs. Partington, looking over her spectacles at the Elder, "there's where he was wrong. What did he want to try so many kinds of doctrine for when Pinker-ton's Wahoo and Callsaya Bitters would have kept him perfectly regular." The Elder confessed the thing had never struck him in that light before, and the old lady was going on to elucidate further, when her attention was attracted by Ike, who was trying to pour some Bitters down the cat's throat with a tunnel. apr29-d2w

The Trustees who purchased the property and franchises of the Central Ohio Rallroad Company on the 28th of March last, under the decree of the U. S. Circuit Court at Cincinnati, on behalf of the parties to the agreement for the adjustment and capitali-zation of the debts and stock of the Company, have determined to extend the time allowed to creditors and stockholders to subscribe the agreement, until the confirmation of the sale. The agreement provides that all interest warrants on the 4th Mortgage and Income Bonds, and all accrued interest on judgments, notes and accounts, shall be relinquished, and the principal of these several classes of indebtedness, and the stock, o be converted into stock in the new organization, as follows:

The total amount of stock and indebtedness of the new company will be only about $5.000,000, on which basis it is confidently believed it will soon become a regular divi-

The opportunity, therefore, afforded the emaining few, who from want of information of the agreement, or from apprehen-sions of its ultimate success, have not subscribed it, to avail themselves of the benefits secured by it, is necessarily limited to the confirmation of the sale. The alternative presented to them is, the reduction of unproductive securities to a paying basis, or the abandonment and loss of them altogether. Those who wish to escape such loss may address William Wing, Esq., Secretary of the Company, at Zanesville, Ohio, or the undersigned, at Columbus, Ohio, inclosing at the same time their securities.

Grant's Return to Washington-His Interview with Gen. Sher-THE PARTY.

NEW YORK, May 1 .- The Herald's Washington special says Gen. Grant has returned to Washington in excellent spirits. He expressed much gratification at the prompt execution of the orders of the Government in reference to the agreement between Gen. Sherman and Joe Johnston. Gen. Sherman met the Lieutenant General 20 miles from the front. He received the order of disapproval with most commendable good grace. There was no hesitation, no murmuring, nor any expression of dissatisfaction at the disapproval of the terms entered into between him and the rebel General; but without any delay or argument in defense of the course previously pursued, General Sherman and his Generals, with true soldierly mien, set to work with alacrity to carry out the views or the Government communicated by General Grant. Within five minutes a dispatch was sent to Johnston terminating the armistice, upon the receipt of the notification by the rebel pickets; and orders were given for our troops in the rear to move up to the front. In a few hours Gen. Frank Blair, with his corps, was in motion. General Sherman had informed Johnston that the Government would not sanction the terms proposed, and that he should immediately resume hostilities. Immediately upon receipt of this notice Johnston sent back a flag of truce asking an interview with Sherman, to arrange other terms of surrender, which was promptly made upon the basis of the terms given to Gen. Lee The World's special says Johnston has pledged himself to exercise his authority and vigilance to prevent guerrilla bush-whacking or any kind of illegal warfare.

Harrold makes a Confession—Jeff. Davis' Specie-Gen. Sherman Explains.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Harrold has made a voluminous confession.

It has been ascertained that Jeff. Davis and party have not more than $300,000 in specie with them. Gen. Grant is reported to have said that when he informed Gen. Sherman of the disapproval of the terms he had forwarded to Washington, the latter frankly admitted that he had made a mistake in not having it put in writing that slavery was dead; but that was the understanding between them. As to permitting the rebel Legislatures to assemble, he agreed to that, because he had ing been, unfortunately, favored with an just learned that the Virginia Legislature was permitted to assemble by authority of the President, and in the absence of official instructions he interpreted the President's desire to be that rebel civil Governments should be retained for the preservation of order and to avoid maintaining a military force in these States, as well as to do away with the irritation likely to grow out of military Government. As to the amnesty, it was only to cover slavery and soldiers .-When his attention was called to the wording he replied with much spirit, "That does not express the understanding between us.'

> Preparation to Receive the Stonewall-Reduction of the Army. NEW YORK, May 1 .- In view of the fact that the rebel Stonewall is affoat and supposed to be making her way to the coast, the Government has made preparations for her reception, by placing fron-clads in our harbors. The Roanoke and other iron-clads, besides a torpedo boat, are in readiness in this harbor.

> The Herald's Washington special says Gen. Grant, immediately on his return to Washington, set about making an arrangement for the contemplated heavy decrease of our military force and consequent reducthe army will soon be reduced 400,000 men. The Herald's correspondent says the 2d army corps has exclusive charge of affairs in the vicinity of Burkesville Junction, proecting the inhabitants from marauding of Lee's discharged men. The inhabitants are so poorly off that our commissaries have to feed them. Upwards of 150 families, averaging eight adults, are thus kept froms tary-

From Richmond.

New York, May 1.—The Herald's Richmond correspondent says: Gen. Halleck, since assuming command in Richmond, has established in that city a bureau of public archives, in which are to be deposited and preserved all documents found within his enartment bearing on the history of the rebellion. A new sub-district, to be known as the District of the Peninsula, has been created in the department of Virginia. It consists of the territory embraced within the bound-aries of the York and Pamunky rivers on the north, Chesapeake Bay on the east, James river on the south, and the Fredericksburg railroad on the west, with headquarters at Williamsburg.

It is believed our Government contemplates the arrest of Judge Campbell, who has, since Lee's surrender, been very busy endeavoring to obtain terms favorable to the traitors.

The Tribune's Richmond correspondent prints letters which show that one Stimson made a contract with the rebel Government in June, 1863, to destroy United States vessels, navy yards, &c., on the Western waters, and in the Atlantic States, by incendiarism, for which he was to receive as pay a percentage on the value of the properry destroyed. A letter is given contain-ing a report of the destruction of the steam-er J. H. Russell on the Mississippi, in April, 1864, by an incendiary employed by Stimson, named Isaac V. Aleshire. The vessel and cargo is valued at $307,250, and the percentage claimed amounted to $55,725.

The Funeral Train.

Indianapolis, April 30.—The rain which fell early in the night did not prevent the outpouring of the people, but after 12 o'clock the skies cleared and gave place to starlight. By the break of day the crowd began to gather about the depot, and by 6 o'clock all the avenues leading to it were closely packed with people. At 6:30 the pilot train, which goes ahead of the funeral cortege to clear the way, arrived. Every moment the crowd increased. Every street poured out its contributions of men, women and children eagerly seeking, with sad and solemn faces, to obtain a view of the train At 7 the funeral train arrived. In the mean ime the military had been drawn up in open order, tacing inward, forming a line of bayonets extending from Illinois and Washington streets up to the State House doors. After some little unavoidable delay, the corpse was taken in charge by the local guard of honor under command of Colonel imonson, and tenderly conducted to the hearse, the city band playing a sad and sor-rowful dirge, called "Lincoln's Funeral March," composed expressly for the occa-sion by Chas. Hess, of Cincinnati. Through the open ranks of soldiers standing at a present arms, the procession then took up its line of march to the State House. Or ither side, in the again falling rain, and amid the sound of tolling bells, along the entire line of march the citizens thronged the sidewalks, balconies and housetops to catch a fleeting glance of all that is mortal of Abraham Lincoln. The hearse conveyng the remains is fourteen feet long, five feet wide, and thirteen feet high, covered with black velvet. It is curtained with black and trimmed with silver fringe. The roof of the ear bears , twelve white olumes, with black trimmings. On the op, about the center, is a beautiful eagle silver gilt. The sides are studded with large silver stars. The car was drawn by ight horses, with black velvet covers, and earing each black and white plumes. Six of these same horses were attached to the carriage, over four years ago, in which

Abraham Lincoln rode through Indianapo-lis, when on his way to Washington to be naugurated. All the streets bear the usual padges and emblems of mourning, but Washington street presents the finest display. At all the intersecting streets are triple arches, adorned in part with ever-greens and national flags, arranged in the nost tasteful and beautiful manner. This is the first time we have seen such arches rected over the carriage-ways since we eft Washington on our Western journey The inclosure of the State House Square is hung with wreaths of arbor vitae. At each corner on Washington street, small arches structure of considerable size, combining can be obtained. uite a variety of styles of architecture. I about twenty-one feet high, forty feet ong and twenty-four wide. Underneath a carriage-way twelve feet wide, with a six-foot passage-way on either side. The main pillars are fifteen feet high. Portraits of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Morton are suspended from the pillars, while on the edestals at the top rest handsome busts of Vashington, Webster, Lincoln and Clay The entire structure is beautifully shroud ed in black and white, relieved with everreens, with a fine display of flags. At the north side a simple, gothic arch decorated with the usual draping of black and white, has been erected. The pillars of the south front of the Capitol are spiral y covered with alternate white and black The lath edged with evergreens while the coat of arms of the State is placed in the pediment. During the performance of a funeral dirge, the tolling of bells and the sound of cannon, the coffin was con-veyed to the interior of the State House in the presence of the military and civic es-cort, which has accompanied the remains from Washington. Along the walls, as we enter, we see pictures of Washington, Linoln, Johnson, Seward, Sheridan, Hovey, Morton, Douglas, Sherman, Grant, Colonel Dick O'Neill and Edward Everett. Busts of Washington, Lincoln, Jackson, Webster, Clay and Douglas are placed at intervals, with condemned horses for agricultural laurel. Flowers and evergreens everywher liberally enter into the artistic arrange Heavy black cloth is hung in the nents. retunda, looped at the pillars with large white tassels, while the surmounting interior dome, which forms the canopy, is loose y hung in black, with white cords and tas-sels, and ornamented with golden stars.-Immediately beneath hangs the chandelier with numerous branches from which a mel low light is shed upon the sombre scene.

The platform is in the center of the ro unda, under the chandeller. It is covered with fine black velvet, with silver fringe On this the coffin is placed, surrounded by lowers. White wreaths and floral crosses lie upon the lid. The remains were, soon after their arrival, exposed to the popular view. All felt the awe that reigned around the presence of the dead. The children of the Sabbath schools were first admitted then the ladies and citizens, severally pass ing through the hall from the north to the south. It was designed to have a grand military and civic procession, and an ad-dress by Governor Morton, and other exer-cises, this afternoon, in the vicinity of the Capitol; but the rain, which has been falling broughout the day, prevented the consum mation of arrangements. The remains were escorted to the cars at 12 o'clock, midnight and we now leave Indianapolis for Chicago which we expect to reach by noon to-mor-

The City Councils of Louisville and Cininnati, and a delegation from Covington together with Governor Bramlette, of Kenncky, were here to-day, to take part in the uneral procession. Thousands of persons from the surrounding country also thronged When the coffin was being placed on th dais in the Capitol to-day, a choir sang funeral hymn to the accompaniment of piano. Several ladies were in attendance meanwhile, arranging flowers, pausing oc-casionally to wipe tears from their eyes. The heavy black drapings of the rotunda, and the soft light reflection upon the feat-ures of the President, the chandeliers gave to the entire scene a sepulchral appearance. and could not fail to solemnize every heart MICHIGAN CITY, IND., May 1 .- The tuneral cortege of Abraham Lincoln has safely arrived at this place. The demonstration of sorrow for the departed, along the route from Indianopolis, has been of the most solemn and impressive kind. The funeral party at 8:35 A. M. started for Chicago.
